Connections

By plain

The airport most close to Braunschweig is Hanover airport. Alternatives are Berlin or Leipzig/Halle because they have direct train connections to Braunschweig. From Hanover airport to PTB you can use a Taxi but this is very expensive because the distance is about 70 km. The cheaper choice is the S-train number S5 to Hanover main station (be careful, the main station is seldom the point where the train terminates and you should expect other destinations, but all trains go via main station). From Hanover main station you have excellent train connections to Braunschweig (see link to Deutsche Bahn, the German railway company below). Note that IC-trains go faster than RE-trains but have a higher price! To reach PTB from the station see section public transport.

You can buy tickets at a machine at the platform of the station in the airport. It understands English. Note that you need a ticket of the Hanover local transportation network to Hanover main station but a railway ticket to go to Braunschweig. The best is you buy a ticket from Hanover airport to Braunschweig at your local travel agency in advance.

By car

Braunschweig is situated near several motorways. If you come from Berlin on A2 turn left (direction Kassel) at cross "Braunschweig-Nord" (North) und leave at exit "Lehndorf". Turn right and follow the main street through "Lehndorf" and "Kanzlerfeld". Finally you turn right and arrive at the gate of PTB.

By public transport from Braunschweig main station

If you like to use a taxi you can choose one in front of the station building. The fare is between 20 € and 25 €.

By bus you have a direct connection to PTB via bus line 461 (see map at internet and below). You can buy tickets at the driver. A ticket for a one-way trip is 2,50 €, you can also buy 2-in-one (4,50 €) or 10-in-one (21,50 €). A day-trip ticket costs 5,50 € per person.

How to reach PTB from your hotel

The bus line numbers 411, 419, 429 and 461 run through the city and directly or close to PTB. Please use the website of www.braunschweiger-verkehrs-ag.de/ to find your suitable connection.
